

Zetafax CommsEngine

Free up developer time by adding fax capability to virtually any software application quickly, easily and reliably.

The Equisys CommsEngine delivers the powerful fax functionality of Zetafax via an easy to use interface which allows fast integration with third party software. It is available in three versions to suit different requirements.

Business Edition

The CommsEngine Business Edition provides third party developers with core fax functionality.

Professional Edition

The CommsEngine Professional Edition allows you to deploy Zetafax fax management capability across your user base with minimum effort. This enables you the fastest route to market a solution addressing the individual business needs of your clients.

Embedded Edition

The CommsEngine Embedded Edition provides rich Zetafax integration with your existing application. Complex fax functionality can be embedded easily as part of your host application to provide fax management. All users of Zetafax can be managed through your existing application.

See reverse for more details about each edition.

What next?

For an initial discussion, contact Equisys to find out more about the CommsEngine, and become an approved member of the Equisys Developer Program. Once this is complete, you can order your free Software Developer's Kit (SDK), which contains a version of Zetafax for use in developing your solution, along with the Automation Toolkit which provides sample code and help files.

You can then progress with your integration and, as a member of the Equisys Developer Program, you'll have access to an Account Manager and Developer assistance to make the process as easy as possible.

When you have completed and are ready to launch your product, we can help with marketing tips and resources, promotional opportunities and logistics.

What they say about Zetafax CommsEngine

"When we were looking for a way to provide our customer with an integrated document output and fax solution, the choice of the Zetafax CommsEngine was obvious. We were impressed by the range of methods open to us, including simply embedding addressing information into word documents through to the powerful COM API, which meant we could send a fax using less than 10 lines of code. We were able to do the integration and offer the solution to the customer very quickly which ultimately helped us win the business."
